

POPIA FOR TECH STARTUPS

8 hours remote learning

Held over 4 days

THE COURSE AT A GLANCE

“The Protection of Personal Information Act, 2013 (POPIA Act) aims to promote the protection of personal information processed by public and private bodies by, among others, introducing certain conditions for the lawful processing of personal information so as to establish minimum requirements for the processing of such information.” [<https://justice.gov.za/inforeg/about.html>]

This eight-hour course is designed for tech startups, to serve as a guide on the essential compliance requirements and duties created under the Protection of Personal Information Act (POPIA) with regards to the conditions for lawful processing of personal information. The course aims to provide tech startups with an understanding on how to become compliant with the new South African privacy law.
